Miles from Home; Adrift in Babylon; The Great Wall; The Magic of the Berg; The Lost World of H.M.S. The present invention relates to a filling level control device for a liquid supply container, which is preferably used in the case where a liquid to be supplied to a process tank or liquid container is stored in a pressure container, or in the case where a liquid to be supplied to a process tank or liquid container is kept in a pressure container that is charged with the liquid. There has been known a technology for controlling a filler level of a liquid to be supplied to a process tank or liquid container in which liquid is kept in a pressure container so as to keep a predetermined filling level of the liquid. For example, JP-B-7-78256 discloses a technology which supplies a liquid to a process tank and controls the filling level of the liquid in the process tank such that the level is gradually increased or gradually decreased in accordance with an operation of a valve, while an overflow of the liquid from the process tank is suppressed. Moreover, JP-A-2010-221257 discloses a technology for keeping a predetermined filling level of a liquid to be supplied to a process tank or liquid container in a pressure container. A plug member such as a sensor head is used in a state of being disposed close to a hole portion of a plug, and the plug is inserted into a through hole which penetrates a pressure container. A float member such as a bubble and a sensor is used as the sensor head, and the float member is inserted to a lower part of the plug, and the plug is inserted into the through hole. Moreover, in a liquid supply device, a recovery pump and a three-way valve are used, and a level of a liquid to be supplied to a process tank or a liquid container is caused to vary by opening and closing the three-way valve. As a method for estimating a flow quantity of a liquid to be supplied from a liquid supply device to a process tank or a liquid container, there is a method for estimating a flow quantity by using a previously measured value and a liquid supply quantity. However, it is necessary to measure a liquid flow quantity every time when a liquid is supplied, a control by a feedback control is not performed, and there is a possibility that the control cannot be sufficiently performed. In the conventional technology which controls the liquid supply to the process tank or liquid container by using the plug member or the float member as a sensor 0cc13bf012
